

BUSY BLOSSOMS

Flowers are busy places. Bees, butterflies, beetles, and other insects visit them for nectar, pollen, and safe places to hide. Find some flowers, peek inside, and jot down what you see!

Helpful Things to Take Along

- Insect field guide
- Magnifying glass
- Clear container, if you want to catch insects for a closer look

In each box below, draw or describe a different insect that you see visiting a flower.

Are certain flowers extra busy? If so, describe these flowers and who's visiting them.
